V the criminal A great step will be taken towards the abolition of crime when the State recognizes that criminals are human beings extremely like ourselves. It is quite a fair thing to say of the mass of civilized mankind that their primary objective in existence is money; and it is no less fair to say that the vast majority desire to get more money than is necessary for their actual needs with as little labour as possible. Indeed, the whole spirit of modern politics and trade organizations, in its ultimate purpose, represents this individual search after as large a reward as possible for as little exertion as may be. Higher wages and shorter hours of employment is the respectable and social formula of that disreputable and anti-social energy which actuates the criminal mind, and expresses itself in the familiar formulae of thieves philosophy. But there is something else. The criminal is often heroic in his character, superior to the ruck, a man of daring, romance, and adventure. Mr. Havelock Ellis quotes in his book a few inscriptions made by convicts on the walls of their cells. Such as: The Lord says it is good to be here. Cheer up, girls, it s no use to fret. The philosophy of the criminal is to bear punishment, and take care not to be caught next time. Mr. Havelock Ellis quotes endless authorities in his book on The Criminal to prove that those whom we...
